

Crash courses within the LIA RoGraV

An important part of the travel funds provided for the LIA by the CNRS and the Romanian Academy is used for the organization of short sessions of high-level intensive courses on syntactic and semantic issues relating to the VP and the sentence, to which participate members of the team and renowned international experts. This allows us to keep informed of the latest theoretical developments and contributes to the dissemination of our research. Moreover, the international experts get acquainted with the data of Romanian which may be relevant for their general theoretical interests.

The following crash-courses have been given until now:
